

What a Beauty Editor Uses All Summer

For Glamour's Maureen Choi, it's these lighter, brighter, and decidedly fresher staples. Copy her strategy!

MY NO-FUSS LIP LOOK

I'm not a fan of glosses (most are so goopy), but these Belmaced ones (Lip Gloss, $32 each, and Aura Balm, $42, all at beautyhabit.com) have a velvety texture and impart just the right amount of color and shine.

MY METALLIC LINER

Three reasons I love Rouge Bunny Rouge Quartz Eyeliner in Tiger Eye Essence ($28, beautyhabit.com): It glides on, doesn't budge, and sets to a shimmery, gold finish. Done.

MY SERUMLIKE MOISTURIZER

To curb summer breakouts, I switch out my heavy-duty face salve for this silky hyaluronic-acid-packed L'Oréal Paris Texture Perfector Day/Night Cream ($25, at drugstores). Applied alone or under makeup (and SPF!), it never makes my skin feel slick or look greasy.

MY SHOWER SPLURGE

In summer I'm all about a two-shower-a-day routine, and this ultrathin Hermès Hair and Body Shower Gel in Eau de Narcisse Bleu ($41, usa.hermes.com) is my must-have. It's an investment, but being transported to the Mediterranean seaside via the gorgeous turquoise hue and crisp narcissus scent? Priceless.
