

All shimmer everything

Mini glitter, major love.

Laura Geller Baked Gelato Illuminator in Golden Honey, $20, laurageller.com

Topshop Eyes Mono Eyeeshadow in Explorer, $8, topshop.com

Rouge Bunny Rouge Gleaming Temptations Lip Gloss in Love Tricks, $23, blush.com

Morgan Taylor Nail Lacquer in Best Ball Gown Ever, $9, morgantaylorlacquer.com

Becca Shimmering Skin Perfector in Rose Gold, $41, sephora.com

Bodyography Cream Shadow in Glimmer, $20, bodyography.com

Topshop Bronzing Illuminator in Ember, $20, topshop.com

Sparkly eyes, lips, nails and cheeks? Sounds like glitter overload—a total beauty don't. But the ever-chic Emma Roberts proves you can go glitzy and still be stunning. "The trick is to pick shades in a complementary color scheme, like pinks, mauves and neutrals," says makeup pro Leah Sarah Bassett. The look shines for the spring dance, or whenever you wanna go a little glam.

FACE "It's key to start with hydrated skin," says Leah. Prep with moisturizer, then smooth two drops of almond oil all over your face to nourish skin and up the dewy effect (pick it up in the beauty aisle of a health food store). Next, blend some foundation and a bit of highlighter (both liquid, please) and apply to your entire face. Swirl a fluffy brush in a multi-hued blush, and sweep onto your apples for a subtle glow.

EYES Apply a sheer, neutral shade all over lids, then focus one color on your creases (like Emma's pale pink). A little bit of black liner and mascara pulls it all together. That smudgy look? Use a Q-tip to run a bit of your neutral shadow along your lower lash line. It'll make your eyes, well, sparkle.

LIPS AND NAILS Pick fun, pastel shades. We're loving violet and peony at the moment.